

Curriculum Vitae

Stefan Tischer is a Landscape Architect. After completing his studies at TUM in Munich, ENSP Versailles, and Urbino, he established his offices in Munich, Berlin, Montreal, and Rome, where he developed projects and master plans in landscape architecture and urban design, many of which have been distinguished with international awards and widely published.

After directing the School of Landscape Architecture in Montreal, he has the professorship for Landscape Architecture and Urban Design at the University of Sassari in Sardinia and directed the Department of Landscape Project at the ENSP Versailles, where he also held the chair for Landscape Theory and Practice.

Tischer is the Aga Khan Visiting Professor of Landscape Architecture at GSD Harvard.
